

Intersec appoints new Board Members

Paris, 08/12/15 Intersec (www.intersec.com), leading vendor of real-time streaming analytics software is pleased to announce that new members have joined its Board of Directors.

Intersec's Board welcomes three new Non-executive Directors: Vincent Bastien, Bruno Dizengremel, Partner at Innovacom, in replacement of Jérôme Faul; and John Scarisbrick.

Vincent Bastien has held CEO positions for over 25 years in various industry and luxury international companies such as Saint-Gobain Desjonquères, Louis Vuitton, Sanofi Beauté, Yves Saint Laurent Parfums or Quebecor World Europe. From 2007 to 2014 he was board member and non-executive vice-president of Intersec. He is now Emeritus Professor at HEC School of Management in Paris, where he teaches luxury strategy.

Based in Stockholm since 2001, Bruno Dizengremel is responsible for investments in Northern Europe. He was previously Director of Corporate Development of EHPT, a joint venture created between Ericsson and HP specialized in networks managing and invoicing applications.

Bruno had previously spent nearly 10 years in various management positions at France Telecom / Orange group, including that of VP - Business Development for FTMI (France Telecom Mobile International), where he helped the implementation of GSM networks for the FT group in a number of European countries. Bruno also held operational responsibilities including that of Technical Director of Panafon, the second GSM operator in Greece, co-owned by the FT and Vodafone groups.

John Scarisbrick is a proven technology leader with extensive board level experience from high-growth start-ups to the largest enterprises. John was CEO of CSR PLC between 2005 and 2007. He served on the Board of ARM, the world's leading microprocessor IP Company, from 2001 to 2011. Previously John worked at Texas Instruments for 25 years in variety of leadership roles in France, the UK and the USA. He was Senior Vice President responsible for all aspects of TI's $5B world-wide ASP chip business. He served previously as President of TI Europe and earlier led the team that created TI's Digital Signal Processing business. He is a non-executive director of ETA Devices Inc, in Cambridge, Massachusetts and has served numerous firms in, chair, board-member and advisory roles.

Yann Chevalier, CEO states "We are really thrilled to welcome these new members of our Board. They bring a wealth of proven business and technology leadership experience that will strengthen Intersec's ability to take innovation to scale and increase our impact worldwide."
